Arnold Olsen to Speak Today at Special Montana Forum

Arnold Olsen, who several weeks ago announced his candidacy for the post of Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, will speak this noon at a special meeting of Montana Forum. The Friday noon discussion group of students and faculty scheduled the special meeting since Olsen will be in Missoula only.

Olsen has been asked to speak at the Montana Court system, and it will be time after his return in Montana. In 1956, he missed being governor by less than 8,000 votes.

The 41 year old Butte native is an alumnus of MSU.

In announcing his filing for the chief justiceship, Olsen said, "I promise equal justice for all and I am running out of response to urging of numerous citizens."

President Against Any Tax Cut Now

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—President Eisenhower came out yesterday against any tax cuts now. Instead, he asked the Democratic-controlled Congress to extend present corporate and excise taxes, now scheduled to drop July 1.

While some influential members of Congress challenged the President's no-tax-cut stand, House Democratic leaders moved quickly to comply with his request.

Jubileers to Sing Opera, Folk Tunes At Final Concert

A program of popular tunes, folk songs and opera music will be presented by the Jubileers chorale group under the direction of Joseph Mussulman Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Music School Recital Hall. It will be the final concert of the season, Dean Luther A. Richman announced.

The program will be the final performance as Jubileers for the following graduating seniors: June Patton, Dolores Pauling, Pat Shaffer, JoAnn Jacobson, Dick Riddle, Bill Williamson and Larry Nitz.

Included on the program are "Montana, My Montana," "Italian Street Song from 'Naughty Marietta'" by Victor Herbert, "Big D" arranged by Dick Riddle, and Selections from "My Fair Lady" by Lerner and Loewe. The second part of the program will feature the "Campus Capers," a group of veteran performers led by Riddle. Their numbers will be announced.

Admission will be 50 cents and will be payable at the door.

Cardinal Stritch Passes In Rome

ROME, (UPI)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, only American-born prelate elevated to the governing curia of the Roman Catholic Church, died yesterday while holding a crucifix before his eyes.

Cardinal Stritch, who was 70, died of the effects of a stroke and a heart attack a month and a day after he arrived in Rome to head the church's missionary agency.

As the Cardinal died there were signs of pneumonia, complicating the heart and circulatory ailments which had afflicted him for the past month.

Stritch survived amputation of a major portion of his right arm April 28 as a result of an arterial clot. Last Monday he had suffered a cerebral stroke, but he appeared to be recovering until the heart weakened last Saturday.

Atom Power Plant Dedicated by Ike

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa., (UPI)—President Eisenhower, acting by remote control from the White House, formally dedicated the world's first full-scale nuclear powered generating plant yesterday on the keynote of putting the atom to work "for the good of mankind."

Climaxing a half-hour ceremony here in a farming region of the Ohio valley and in Washington, the President brought a neutron-emitting rod close to a neutron counter to trip an electrical current which opened the main throttle valve of the station.

Castle Speaks Before Forum, Outlines Areas of Participation Available for MSU Students

Acting President Gordon Castle outlined areas in which students are now participating in University affairs and suggested other areas for participation at Montana Forum last week.

"The students can contribute a lot in certain areas," President Castle said, but he added that there are other areas which by their nature must be reserved for the faculty.

Formulate Policies

Student ideas are needed on operational procedures, Castle said, and students can help in formulating policies. Student reaction to stated policies is extremely important, he said.

President Castle stressed the need for good communications on all levels—administrative, faculty and student.

Real Work

Regarding student participation on University committees, Castle said students should realize committees involve real work and a willingness to actually participate, not sit back without expressing genuine opinions.

Castle gave as examples of committees now involving student participation the following: public exercises, social standards, and students services such as the health service, student store, swimming pool and ice rink.

Curriculum

Regarding curriculum committee work, Castle said he could not say that students should participate in planning the curriculum. This is one area definitely set aside for the faculty, he said.

Seniors Must Attend Convo

A special convocation will be held at 10 a.m. today in the Main Hall auditorium to brief seniors on commencement procedure. All seniors are required to attend and will be excused from classes.

The convocation will include instructions on marching order for the commencement, an announcement of events by Prof. O. J. Bue, an explanation of the MSU Alumni Assn. and a message from Acting President Gordon B. Castle.

The schedule of events for the University's 61st annual commencement will begin June 6 with the awarding of degrees on June 9.

Since yesterday, tickets for admittance to the balcony for the commencement exercises were available at the Lodge Main Desk. Seniors may sign up for these tickets at any time.

Tickets for the commencement dinner also went on sale yesterday. The dinner is June 7 and tickets are $2.25 each.

Caps and gowns for candidates for bachelor's and master's degrees are available now at the Student Store.

Tri-Delts, SN Win Songfest Trophies

Delta Delta Delta took first place in the Newman Club songfest women's competition Friday evening with "Take Back Your Mink." Tied for second place were Delta Gamma with "Honeybun" and Alpha Phi with "Put 'Em Back the Way They Was."

In the men's division, Sigma Nu came in first with "Lizzie Borden." Phi Delta Theta sang "Siberia" to place second. Honorable mentions for singing quality went to Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Trophies, which have not yet arrived, will be given to the two first place winners, according to Kathy O'Neill, co-chairman of the songfest.

Other committees are limited to specific areas, and students could not probably participate profitably.

Senate Committees

Forum members asked what part students might have in working with the proposed faculty senate committees, and Castle answered that under the proposals, students could still work on committees.

When asked about student participation on the faculty athletic committee, Castle said that this is a policy committee, that since students are footing part of the athletic bill they should have some say, but that student ideas and information—rather than voting representatives—would be the main value here.

From Three Viewpoints, Two

Saturday was a dark day not only for journalism but for all who are influenced by journalism, and this includes nearly every American.

The United Press announced its merger with International News Service, and in doing so reduced the number of American wire services from three to two. The child of this consolidation move is to be known as United Press International.

INS was started by William Randolph (Citizen Kane) Hearst, and although William Jr.—who took over the Hearst interests after his father's death—is certainly a long way from what his father represented in journalism, one wonders if shades of Hearst will be seen in UPI.

In addition to the question of how the consolidation will affect policy and content of what used to be UP is the significance of this merger in the over-all trend of journalism management.

Those who control the press have shown a sweeping tendency toward chains of papers instead of individual operation, and this in turn results in lessening the diversity of editorial opinion. The creation of UPI means there will now be two wire service interpretations of the news instead of three.

UPI officials claim the consolidation will result in more efficient, more economical news coverage. This probably is true; but on the other hand, there will be less competition for the news, and a lessening in the enterprise of both former UP and INS employees. Not to mention fewer jobs.

We may as well look ahead to the formation one day of a great world-embracing news service combining efficiency of operation with conformity of opinion. The Kaimin suggests as its name TARUPI; Tass Associated Reuter's United Press International.

Where Is the 'Party School'?

More details about the "skirmish" at Montana State College a month ago which resulted in 90-day jail terms for three students and several hundred dollars in hospital fees for another were printed in Friday's Montana Exponent.

It now appears (according to one letter) that Les Bouffons, senior social society, is "openly dedicated to 'drinking and having a ball'" and that its members have as a tradition "singing of lewd songs in the Student Union."

Another letter in the Exponent criticized the MSC administration for its handling of the matter:

"Instead of prompt and decisive action, we saw kid glove handling. There's a bond issue coming, in case you aren't aware of it, and the voters might have been inclined to vote no on the matter of more money for the school system if they had read that there had been a small brawl in which people got hurt. Personal injuries were overlooked because the resulting publicity might harm the college. Politics overshadowed the law."

The letter, filling an entire page in the MSC weekly, charged that favoritism was shown to the athletic department in the handling of athletes involved in the Saturday afternoon fight with Les Bouffons.

Amid the talk of athletes beating people's heads against rocks, brandishing beer openers at drinking parties, etc., there is one thing which quiet MSU should consider: Isn't this supposed to be the "party school" of the state? Or has MSC taken over where we left off?

An Educationist President?

Former Supt. of Public Instruction Mary M. Condon, writing to the letters column in Friday's People's Voice, said that the next MSU president "should be an educator."

Miss Condon did not make it very clear what she means by "an educator," but she was possibly thinking of another word, educationist.

She perhaps would favor someone with quite an extensive background in educationist theory—a person with a Doctorate in education.

If this is what Miss Condon thinks of when she says "an educator," let us hope her advice will get little notice. The effects of education degrees and teaching certification were discussed in the April Atlantic Monthly, and although the article was based mainly on the results of certification in Florida, it is an indication of what might happen in Montana as well.

The Atlantic article, tracing the lobbyist methods of educationists in state legislatures, concludes: "As long as all the teachers and administrators . . . must be processed through a system that attracts the least capable people and indoctrinates them with an overdose of pedagogy . . . there will be a continuous downgrading of education at every level."

Educationist philosophy has been the rotten apple in the barrel at the elementary and secondary school levels. When Miss Condon calls for "an educator" at MSU, she may be suggesting that the State Board of Education toss a rotten apple in this direction.

First 'Journalism Review' Now Ready for Distribution

The MSU Bureau of Press and Broadcasting Research, established at the School of Journalism this spring to conduct studies that will be of service to Montana newspapers and radio and television stations, has announced that the first issue of the Journalism Review is ready for distribution.

The publication, edited by Dr. Frederick T. C. Yu, professor of journalism and director of the bureau, is also designed to be of value to journalism students.

"The Censor of the Government," the lead article in the first issue of the review, is by Alan Barth, editorial writer for the Washington, D. C. Post and Times Herald. Barth, in 1957, was the first Dean A. L. Stone Visiting Professor at the MSU School of Journalism.

Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Fellowships at Harvard University contributed "Responsibility of the Press and Education of the Journalist," an article based on the first Dean Stone Address at MSU. Parts of this speech were later used by Lyons in his Phi Beta Kappa Address at Harvard which was published in the Nieman Reports.

In "Montana's First Newspaper," a well documented account of the territory's earliest journalistic history, Dorothy M. Johnson of the journalism faculty awards the distinction of being the first regularly issued newspaper to the Montana Post, which was born August 27, 1864 in Virginia City. Miss Johnson, secretary-manager of the Montana State Press Assn., is the author of "The Hanging Tree," soon to be made into a movie starring Gary Cooper and Marie Schell.

Other articles in the first issue of the review are "Power and Union Publications" by Dr. Richard A. Garver; "Newspaper Wages in Montana" by Prof. Olaf J. Bue, and "Radio Propaganda in Red China" by Dr. Yu. Dr. Garver has made a special study of the American labor press and is writing a book on the subject. Prof. Bue, veteran newsman and member of the MSU faculty since 1943, is vice president of the National Council of Radio and Television Journalism. Dr. Yu is one of eight scholars in the United States to receive a Ford Foundation International Relations Training Fellowship this year.

The review also contains summaries of four research studies done for graduate courses in the journalism school by Martin Onishuk, Frank Crepeau, John R. Harris and John Brunett.

Dr. Garver, assistant professor of journalism, will direct the bureau during the 1958-59 school year while Dr. Yu is on leave from the University to do postdoctoral study under a Ford Foundation fellowship at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for International Studies.

Montana Accomplishes Nothing in Skyline Conference Playoffs

Brigham Young University, University of Utah, and New Mexico won the Skyline Conference championships in baseball, tennis and golf, respectively, at Albuquerque Saturday. Montana finished sixth in tennis and last in golf.

Brigham Young, Western Division champion, got 14 hits to back the fine pitching of Joe DeGregorio and beat Eastern Division champion New Mexico by a 9-3 score. BYU had beaten New Mexico 11-2 Friday. BYU will play Colorado State College of Greeley for the NCAA district title in a best-of-three series Friday and Saturday. CSC is Rocky Mountain Conference champion.

Sophomore Bob Meiering of New Mexico shot an 11-under par 133, including a hole-in-one, to lead the Lobos to their second straight Skyline golf championship. New Mexico had a low team total of 580 strokes, followed by Utah State with 600, BYU with 605, CSU 609, Utah 617, Denver 621, Wyoming 658 and Montana 681.

Utah edged New Mexico 15-13 to win the Skyline tennis championship. Utah took three of four singles matches from the Lobos.

BYU scored 7 points, Wyoming 4, Denver 2, and Montana 1. Montana's single point came on a first round singles victory by John Love over Will Aldrich of CSU, 6-3, 6-3.

Uneasy Lies The Crown

By BOB REAGAN

Missoula Spartans will wear the crown as king of the field and track for one more year and then watch out. Billings Flying Broncos and Butte's Bulldogs tossed their respective hats into next year's track and field circle by revealing themselves as tough potential contenders for next year's crown.

When one realizes that the Flying Broncos only had 15 men on its team in comparison with 24 for the Spartans and that the Spartans edged them 66½ to 59½, then it is obvious that the Broncos' declared statement of dethroning the Spartans was not idle boasting.

Nor does it appear that Dawson of Glendive intend to allow Sidney to dominate the Class A conference. Sidney was an easy winner last year and the Golden Eagles were again posted as the favorite. Dawson of Glendive proved that the press clippings meant little to them as they pulled 52 points against Sidney's 63½.

A dark horse came home in front in Class B as Whitefish sunk the Interscholastic hopes of Wolf Point, last year's champion Hamilton and Fairfield. The boys from Whitefish totalled 36 points to 25 for Wolf Point.

Weidner—High Man

Gale Weidner scored 23½ points to lead Troy to victory over Twin Bridges 35 - 18. The Weidner-Grasky personal track feud was renewed again this year, however the roles were reversed. Last year Jim Grasky, Miles City, scored 22 points. This year it was all Weidner; Grasky having to settle for 12½ of his team's 13 points.

The most notable feature of the Interscholastic was the individual scoring in comparison with the team scoring: Weidner of Troy, 23½-35; Grasky of Sacred Heart, 12½-13; Gary Michael of Laurel, 16¼-31½; Marco Standisich of Butte, 16½-34; Bill Clouse of Billings, 17-59½. These individual stars besides carrying their teams, have something else in common: they are all seniors.

Jankovich Gets Nod

Seems to be two versions of why there were no Seeley Lake fighters at the M-Club bouts Friday night. Ed Coyle said that his charges were not notified until five days before the matches were scheduled. M-Club contact Sam Jankovich, however, has a telephone bill that shows a series of long distance calls to Seeley Lake three weeks prior to the matches.

BYU Sweeps to Victory As Montana Finishes Fifth

Brigham Young University's track team won first place in four events and tied for another first as it won the Skyline Conference track championship for the fourth consecutive year.

The Cougars scored 77 points, almost three times as many as the second place team, Utah State, which finished with 27½ points. Montana made only 23 points to end in fifth place. Last year Montana was second.

Jay Silvester of Utah State broke his own shot put record of 54 feet, 4¼ inches with a heave of 55 feet 5¼ inches. Silvester set the former mark at the Skyline meet in Dornblaser Field last year. Silvester also won the discus throw with a throw of 170 feet 7¼ inches.

Buster Quist of New Mexico threw the javelin 230 feet 7½ inches to break the 1955 record of 225 feet 5 inches set by BYU's Harold Norton.

Dick Millett of BYU ran the low hurdles in :23.1 to tie the record set in 1953 by Robert Yates of the University of Utah.

Montana got its 23 points by placing second in the discus throw (Sheriff), second and fourth in the 440 yard run (Granbois and DeSilvia, respectively), third in the javelin throw (Utsond), fourth in the 880 yard run (Bill Anderson), fourth in the high hurdles (Mohland), and third in the mile relay (Paige, B. Anderson, DeSilvia, and Granbois).

Harrison to Judge 1958 Moot Court

As a result of presentation and arguments this month four students have been selected to the moot court competition finals within the law school, scheduled during Homecoming next October. Chief Justice James Harrison of the Montana Supreme Court will preside at the Law School finals.

The team finalists are Chuck Wiley, Missoula, last year MSU team member, and Edward Borer, Forsyth; Page Wellcome, Fullerton, Calif., and Charles Lovell, Missoula. In Nov. the winning team will compete with other moot court teams from Oregon, Wyo., Idaho and Wash. in the regionals. The regional winner will compete for national honors in New York in December.

Members of the MSU moot court team that took second place in the national finals last year were Wiley, Douglas P. Beighle, Deer Lodge; and George C. Dalthorp, Wibaux. The University of Pennsylvania won the 1957 moot court competition by a close split decision over the MSU team.
